COURT HAS RULED ON POOL PLAYING CASE, MAYOR STANDS PAT

Mayor Frick, who has issued an order that games of pool and billiards wherein the loser must pay for the entire game shall be considered as gambling and shall be suppressed by the police, has thereby disagreed with a decision of the courts of the state.

There is a leading decision on this very point, which has never been reversed and which lawyers say is the law of the state. The decision was given by the Eighth Circuit court, sitting in Cuyahoga county, the style of the case being Edwin Steiner against The Royal Clear Co. Steiner, it appeared, had played pool in the parlors conducted by the defendant company, loser to pay, and in so doing had gotten in debt to the company to the extent of from $150 to $200. He was sued and set up the defense that he could not be held liable for the debt because he alleged that it was a gambling debt.

The circuit court held, and its decision has not been reversed and is therefore the law of the state, that playing pool or billiards, the loser to pay for all, was not gambling, inasmuch as neither of the parties would personally profit by the result.

In giving its decision the circuit court quoted decisions along similar lines by the courts in a number of states, one in particular being that of Illinois, in the case of Mitchell, in which an exhaustive review of the law was made, and it was held that in states where the loser was to pay, it was not gambling.

Mayor Frick, when asked about the above decision and as to whether or not it would affect the order he had issued, said that it would not, that he did not think that the decision applied. He said he knew his order was right and he had the law to back it up, so the order would stand as originally issued.

FEMININE FETTER

"CAME of a large family and my father and mother had but little time to give to my household training."

When a woman is met with the ordinary to a popular novel, it is one that is familiar to readers of romance. The story is usually one of a large family, or, if not, it is the story of a woman who is a favorite with her family. It must be a story of a woman who is a favorite with her family. It must be a story of a woman who is a favorite with her family.

Now, the question arises, is there the possibility of a woman who is a favorite with her family? The answer is, yes. A woman who is a favorite with her family is a woman who is a favorite with her family. A woman who is a favorite with her family is a woman who is a favorite with her family. A woman who is a favorite with her family is a woman who is a favorite with her family.

accompanying Senor Porfirio Diaz to Vera Cruz when the latter fled from the country before Francisco Madero's regime and today upon the same scenes were enacted for him. Huerta looks old. His face is drawn and it is evident that the strain of the last few months when he defied the United States to force him from office and at the same time saw the flower of his army torn from him, has told on him.

Today sailing with him are his family, Gen. Blauquet and his family and many relatives. They will go to Paris where they will make their future home.

It was planned that the departure should be made by a little ceremony as possible. Huerta remained on his special train all night.

It was sweltering hot and Huerta's guards appeared in stiff uniform. Huerta, however, appeared in his usual sack suit. When not receiving visitors he sat aside his coat and collar.

Church Attitude Of Constitutionalists

Laredo, Texas, July 18.—The constitutionalists' alleged attitude towards the Catholic church in Mexico has resulted in an unusual situation today in Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, opposite here. Weddings, baptisms and even funerals for Catholics, either must be held without the customary religious services, or else these services can be obtained only after unusual difficulty. The Catholics have appealed to General Carranza to change the situation. Soon after the occupation of Nuevo Laredo under Victor Soto, he ordered the occupation of the Catholic church. The priest, Father Iglesias, was expelled to the American side. The church since has been used as a barracks and civilians have been refused permission to enter. Catholic residents are without religious services and the only funeral services they can obtain are those of priests from the American side.

Douglas, Ariz., July 18.—Constitutionalists under General Alvarado occupied Guaymas at 11 a. m. today according to unofficial advice received. They received an ovation.

Troops Ordered To Mexico City

Monterrey, Mexico, July 18.—Seven thousand constitutionalist troops were today ordered to march towards Mexico City to be ready to preserve order there in case of any outbreak.

The troops ordered to march towards the capital are under command of Gen. Jesus Carranza, brother of the first chief of the constitutionalists, and who has been operating in the neighborhood of Pachuca, state of Hidalgo. Pachuca is only a few hours ride by railroad from Mexico City. Constitutional officials claim to have 30,000 to 35,000 troops near the capital.

Orozco Flees With Army

Juarez, Mex., July 18.—Realizing that he would be given no quarter if he surrendered, General Orozco, leader in the "bloody red flag revolution" two years ago, has fled from San Luis Potosi with his brigade of 4,000 federal irregulars and plans to carry on guerrilla warfare against the rebels in the mountains. Orozco was the first of the former Madero followers to revolt and caused wholesale executions.

M'ADOO PAYS FOR RIDE ON U. S. CUTTER

Washington, July 18.—Secretary McAdoo's letter to Secretary Fitzgerald read in the house today declared that if he violated the law by traveling on the revenue cutter Onondaga from Washington to Matanzas, he would be liable to a fine of $10,000. The letter also stated that the revenue cutter Onondaga, had similarly violated the law and that President Taft and President Roosevelt both rode on the cutter. McAdoo said the Onondaga was under cruise orders and that every item of expense occasioned by himself and wife was paid by him.

Marriott Attacks Democratic Leader

Columbus, O., July 18.—Democratic circles were stirred today by an attack on Democratic Leader William L. Finley by Frank L. Marriott of Marion, candidate for supreme judge at the Democratic state primary. In a signed statement issued today Marriott declared Finley was a boss and charged he is attempting to control the members of the supreme court and dictate who shall become members of that court.

Judge Marriott charged that after he had announced his candidacy for a place on the supreme bench to succeed John Shank that Judge Crow of Keaton fellowtownsman of Finley, was brought into the race, induced and urged by the solicitation of W. L. Finley.

"I shall not be disappointed on account of Judge Crow's popularity in the northwest and the popularity of Mr. Finley throughout the state if I shall fail at the August primaries," the statement says.

"I am not the candidate of a boss. If the judges of the state are to be made the subservient tool of a political party or a political machine, it ought to be abolished entirely."

Mdme. Caillaux Will Face Trial Monday

Paris, France, July 18.—Madame Caillaux, wife of the former French premier and minister of finance, will be taken tomorrow from the St. Lazare prison to the Conciergerie, adjoining the palace of justice, to await the trial beginning Monday, for killing Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro on March 16. The prisoner is to be lodged in the same cell which was occupied in 1902 by Madame Tereza Humbert while under trial on charges of swindling the French public of millions of dollars.

Madame Caillaux's health is much better than when she was arrested in March. It is reported that she intends to apply for divorce whatever its outcome as she is said to consider that, by so doing she will show the greatest mark of love for her husband since remaining with him she would prove an obstacle to his political career. The trial is expected to last about five days. The space usually occupied by spectators is to be allowed to newspaper men, 142 having been allotted places on the press box.

CANDIDATES RE-UNION

Cleveland, O., July 18.—This city today was the scene for nearly every Republican state candidate for office with the primary August 11. They were here to boost their campaign at the picnic of the Republican committee at Linn Park. Every one regardless of the primary result said he would put his shoulder to the wheel and work to redeem the Republican party for the state and nearly all the candidates will be given an opportunity to make a speech tonight.

What Causes Twilight.
Owing to the fact that the earth has an atmosphere, daylight does not disappear whenever the sun sinks below the horizon. The rays of the sun still strike the upper regions of our atmosphere, and thus we have twilight and the gradual darkening of the sky and disappearance of daylight.

LITTLE JOURNEYS INTO FASHION LAND

MILK and chiffon is a favorite combination for afternoon dress. The more used as a trimming.

The newest lace sleeves are gathered at the wrist and at the elbow just under the sleeves of one's frock.

Tulle is again in use for trimming, made up in pampous and alacrinis, and these are as light and airy as bubble in appearance.

Crests of tulle, muslin or fancy printed silk are the latest dressy mode, as they can be worn with lingerie, silk or most any style of gown.

Chiffon wraps are as much in vogue for afternoon wear as they are for evening. Those that are embroidered with crystal and lacework are very effective. There are some that look like more than they are.

Virgin blue, ammonia and Dresden still hold supremacy.

The odd little coat to go with a plain skirt is still a favorite feature.

In some of the newest bellows and crepe skirts undergarment seem no longer exact.

Muslin blouses still continue popular. Those most approved of extend to the knee or just above it.

Starched tailored suits are not on the top notch of fashion. The new suit suits are called daint suits.

Fashions may be laid at the side of the back with short ends, or a ray from a flat bow directly in the middle of the back with long side pleated ends, caught at the bottom by braided bands of ribbon or silk. These catch ribbon washes have tasseled ends. Small washes directly in the middle of the front, with three inch loose ends with five inch ends.

The Successful Man

MORE than nine times out of ten you will find that the successful man began his success by first being a prudent man. He early learned the value of saving and began putting his surplus in bank. There is character and force about the man who has money in bank. He begets confidence in himself and confidence and credit from the community. He becomes recognized as safe and dependable. Opportunities begin to come his way and having some means he is the better able to profit by them.

The first step towards success is saving. We want to help you in that step and we offer you the security and facilities of our bank. One dollar will open a savings account and we allow interest on all savings deposits and compound the interest.

Fired By Lightning Barn Burned Down

A large barn on the Lafayette Yeley farm in Harrison township was destroyed by fire after being struck by lightning Friday evening. The steady downpour of rain failed to quench the flames which wiped out a large supply of wheat, hay and other crops stored in the barn along with a number of farm implements. Several horses and cattle were rescued in the nick of time.

The barn and contents valued at $4000 are a total loss, partially covered by insurance. The bright glare caused by the lightning brought many of the neighboring farmers to the scene but their services were of no avail as the fire had gained a tremendous headway when it was discovered.

Insure with Marvin O. Clark, First National Bank building.

HALF OF PATTERN OF BUREAU OR BUFFET SCARF

This effective pattern is done in solid and eyelet embroidery and Italian cut work. The scallops are padded and closely buttonholed. The flowers and leaves are solidly worked, with the dots as eyelets, and the stems in the outline stitch. The figures with the cross bars are buttonholed, with the purring brought to the inside. The cross bars are formed of strands of cotton stretched from side to side and buttonholed across, without catching through the material, which is cut away underneath. Mercerized cotton No. 18 should be used.

DIRECTIONS FOR TRANSFERRING

In taking off these patterns, lay a piece of impression paper upon the material, place the newspaper pattern over this, and with a hard, sharp pencil draw firmly over each line. If the material is sheer it may be laid over the pattern and drawn off with pencil, as the design will show through.

No patterns of these designs are available.

The scallops should be padded stitch. The curved figures are from side to side and buttonholed and closely buttonholed. The flowers and leaves are solidly worked, with the dots as eyelets. The cross bars are formed underneath. Use mercerized cotton No. 18.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, work, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly: I am a young girl with real hollow cheeks. What can I do to make them full?
SWEET MARIE: Now, Mabel, or pretend like you are whistling, only don't make any noise.

Dear Dolly:—How can I let a boy know that I love him without coming right out and telling him?
DORIS: Where do you think he goes when he's not home?

It isn't very modest or maidenly to let a boy know that you love him, especially if he hasn't asked for your love, Dora. If he has, and you have promised to marry him, you can show it by being always considerate of his feelings, being interested in his ambitions, and keeping him to the mark of a gentleman. A girl doesn't show real love by letting a man take liberties with her, so don't let him get familiar, whatever you do.

Dear Miss Wise:—Will you please tell me how I can show watermelons away so they will keep all winter, besides in an ice house?
I don't know how you could keep them all winter, but they will keep nicely until Christmas by putting them in a stack of fodder. They might keep that way all winter.

Dear Dolly:—Is it dangerous to correspond with a young man and meet while away on a vacation a few weeks ago? I have every reason to believe he is a most respectable young man. I am 18.
VACATION GIRL: I can't see that it is dangerous providing the letters are such as young people of common sense would write. There is danger in all things, as you doubtless know, and the only way to keep out of it is to avoid it. While a girl of 18 is not possessed of any more common sense than the law-abiding Mass. man, and Charles P. Thacker, if you are both clean-minded people, Dolly, and Helen B. Allen, M. J. ple, and write sensible and interesting letters, without any stalling or foolishness, I do not think any harm will come from such a correspondence. There are so many three-weeks' vacation with her mother's

Rev. Gilliland To Succeed Rev. Hart

Relative to the coming of Rev. W. T. Gilliland, the new pastor of the Manly M. E. church, who succeeds Rev. J. L. Hart, resigned the Ashtand, Ky., Independent says:

Rev. W. T. Gilliland, who has been transferred from the First M. E. Church to Manly Church, Portsmouth, left yesterday for Springfield, O., where he will meet Mrs. Gilliland and children, who have been visiting relatives there, and all will go to Lakeside, Ohio, to spend several weeks before going to their new home.

Rev. Gilliland, who came to Ashtand two years ago last September, leaves behind many evidences of his ability as a pastor and business man, the church having made many advancements during his pastorate. At the last regular meeting of the official board, the treasurer reported that $1,415.00 were paid, and that there was a surplus in the treasury, the first time in thirty years. In addition to this there has been pledged approximately $20,000 for the new church, with $2,000 paid in.

One hundred and twenty-seven new members have been taken into the church since Rev. Gilliland came to Ashtand. The congregation has almost doubled and the Sunday school is the largest in its history. Rev. Gilliland is a brother of W. D. Gilliland of the Sally Shoe Company, the Bishop to return Rev. Hart.

REV. W. T. GILLILAND

COX REVIEWS HIS OFFICIAL DEEDS

Defends Administration, Warns Law in Particular.

DECLARES FIGHT INTERESTING

Says Opposition Has Finally Succeeded in Convincing Public That Its Campaign Was One of Falseness and Deceit—Recounts Agricultural Commission Contest—Workmen's Compensation Act Proves Its Worth to Laboring Classes—Expects Great Things From New School Law.

(From Cleveland Plain Dealer.)

A year ago last January Governor James M. Cox took office as party platform pledged to a program, both of which spelled hard work.

A constitutional election a few months before had definitely registered the will of the people of Ohio along certain lines of change and reform in the fundamental law of the state.

Through the year and six months of his administration the governor has fought for his program.

Just now he is about to engage in a campaign for re-election, confronting the most difficult situation of his career.

Having been one of the most strenuous opponents of the workmen's compensation law, his campaign is expected to be characterized by the public.

For the first time the governor has pronounced a definite statement of the chief things that have been done by his administration. It is upon them that he bases his strongest claim for re-election and re-election. Editor's Note.

BY GOVERNOR JAMES M. COX.

It has been an interesting year. The year of misunderstanding was large, but we see the light again. The element of interest and excitement incident to the game has been a sustaining force, where great human strength was called for. Opposition can't live on a shadow. Substance is necessary, and our friends, the opposition, have been most kind in concluding the people, after a time, that their campaign was one of falsehood and deceit.

The first opposition I met was when I undertook to recommend a consolidation of numerous agricultural bodies into an effective commission that could and would do things.

Opposition at once swung us from many sources. In running it down I invariably found that it was from an interested source. I knew of the overlapping efforts of the several organizations and institutions having to do with agriculture.

Editors With Me.

I knew the ineffectiveness and inefficiency of many of these and I determined that a commission should be created that would not expend its energies in needless directions. The editors of the agricultural newspapers and many members of the state senate were with me, but there was tremendous opposition all along the line. I knew that the formation of the agricultural commission would have thousands of dollars in the state and prove of the very greatest benefit.

It was a surprise to find opposition to the plan. But I have never cared much about opposition when I believed I was right. An effort was made to bring about a referendum vote on the bill creating the commission, but that distressed me.

The people of the state did not want an agricultural commission. It was not business, and I was not in the least disturbed by the threat of a referendum upon the measure.

However, the commission was created; splendid men were named upon it; and it has already demonstrated to the unsophisticated observer its great aid to the agricultural interests of the state. More farmers' institutes are provided. There are scientific men attending all of them. Concentration of effort in agricultural betterment and a general awakening in the rural communities has been the result. It would be impossible to state in dollars and cents the real value to Ohio of the work performed in a single year by the agricultural commission.

Then it was proposed to hire a farmer to superintend the farming of the state land in connection with the various institutions. The salary of the farmer employed was criticized. Such a valuable work would be accomplished, it was said. But today Ohio is growing hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of produce upon her lands where formerly only tons of thousands of dollars worth were grown.

Take the matter of community breeding, as it was called. We have purchased some of the best strains of cattle in the world and are actually raising the grade of cattle all over the state. We are furnishing the services of these blooded cattle to the people in a number of communities and expect to extend that service. It is my prediction that within five years the average grade of cattle in Ohio will exceed that produced by any other agricultural community in the world.

Then came the attack on the good roads proposition and the proposal to levy a half mill tax with which to build market roads. Much of this opposition came from the cities. It was argued that it was unfair to tax a man in the city to build a road in the country. I do not believe it is unfair. I believe that every dollar of money spent for good roads in the country aids every man who resides in a city. I believe that it is right that the cities, maintained as they are through the prosperity of the country, should contribute to this prosperity. Every county in this state but twelve receives more money for good roads than it contributes. These twelve counties are the ones in which the larger cities are located. And the cities are asking to reap their benefit through the better transportation facilities which the good roads will create.

Opposition to the workmen's compensation law has subsided so far as the employers and the employer are concerned, because both the employer and employer now see that it is one of the most splendid measures ever enacted. But certain liability insurance interests are as busy as they have ever been in their opposition to me and the measure.

Why should they not be? It has cut out a source of revenue for them. Money which manufacturers now pay for protection goes to injured workmen and their dependents and not to these insurance companies. Besides, the state rate is so much lower than the rate charged by the commercial companies in other states there seems to be fear among the companies at this time that the Ohio measure will extend across the borders and be adopted in other states. Not only has it been demonstrated that the Ohio rate was sufficiently large to cover all emergencies, but the rate is gradually being reduced. This is in part due to the greater care now exercised by employers in the protection of their working people.

Workers Ample Protected.

The industrial commission is now settling 800 or 400 claims a day, and while that is pretty hard on the attorneys who would have brought suit in many of these instances, it means that the workmen of the state are now protected as they never were before.

I believe that either the school law or the Warren tax measure will prove of the most far reaching benefit. The opposition was encountered when we proposed to reform the school law. It came primarily from a number of persons then in the service who were afraid they could not stand the test, but the opposition was founded upon a shadow. Substance is necessary, and our friends, the opposition, have been most kind in concluding the people, after a time, that their campaign was one of falsehood and deceit.

PAINTER IS FINED HEAVILY FOR ASSAULTING ASSYRIAN, MAYOR LAID ON SEVERELY

It cost A. W. Andrews, a painter, exactly $50 for his assault upon Abraham Nasser, an Assyrian fruit dealer, a few nights ago, Mayor Frick fining him that amount in police court Saturday morning.

The mayor convicted Andrews with the painters own witnesses and without any testimony from Nasser, who is still laid up at the Hempstead hospital from the effects of the assault. The court took the view that Andrews had no right to take the law into his own hands and that even if Nasser did call at his boarding place and call for him to come out, the foreigner undoubtedly just wanted an adjustment of their differences earlier in the evening.

The mayor announced that as soon as Nasser was able to appear he would be arraigned on a charge of opening a slot machine and refusing to redeem the checks, also promising to see to it that the 80 cents due Andrews from Nasser would be recovered for him.

R. P. Holley of Mill street was fined $25 and assigned to the city work gang for decamping with the receipts of a refreshment stand jointly owned by himself and wife at the street fair, getting drunk and other unbecoming conduct. Holley's wife told of her husband having made a date with Chasteline Cooper and how he was out for a bark while supposed to be in charge of the stand. When she, after a hard day's work at home, went to the stand she found it in a sad state of neglect. The Cooper girl with whom Holley was reported to be intimately friendly, was fined $10 by the mayor and ordered to return a jacket belonging to Mrs. Holley's sister, which she had expected to buy but for which she had failed to make any payment. Mrs. Johnson, wife of a Front street carpenter, with whom the Cooper girl has been staying, was also served with a warning by the court against harboring such persons and advised to deport herself more carefully than she did by visiting the street fair grounds every night this week.

Tom Dalton and Harry and Frank Harding had but a trivial argument with K. Solaba, a notion vender, but made the mistake of running when the police approached. The mother of the Harding boys, not wishing them to be arrested, made the still further mistake of advising them to conceal themselves. One of the boys crawled under a bed. The mayor fined Dalton $10 and the two brothers $5 each, while Solaba drew $10 for peddling without a license.

Morris Munro and Jim Willis, N. & W. negro laborers, who were hoisterous Friday night, were fined $10 each and committed to the work gang. Steve Arnold and Ed Coleman, plain drunks, were fined $5 each.

Harry Evans, a colored barber, accused of trying to force his attentions upon 15-year-old Mahel Dabney, was dismissed, no one appearing against him. David Ulrich, who was accused of having insulted two aged women, Mrs. Robert Lathery and Mrs. Matilda Sperry, was also dismissed, they failing to appear.

Bernard Heckenbach, a Cincinnati woodworker, arrested twice in 24 hours for intoxication, was fined $5 and warned he had better not return. Bernard and wife came here a few days ago to visit Joseph Feshner, a baker, and wife who are nightly relieved to get rid of him.

Mrs. Ida N. Powell,
Sister of Woman Held in Long Island Murder

Mrs. Ida Powell, sister of Mrs. Edwin Carman, in jail at Mineola, L. I., in connection with the murder of Mrs. William Bailey at the office of Dr. Carman, at Freeport, L. I., June 20, will be one of the important witnesses in the case. The district attorney in charge has said she may not be permitted to testify before the grand jury unless she waives immunity.

On the testimony of her sister Mrs. Carman must largely rely. She has said she was in her room on the second floor of her home when the shot which killed Mrs. Bailey in the doctor's office on the ground floor was fired. Her mother and sister will be her chief witnesses in convincing the jury of this claim.

NEW BOSTON

Mrs. Catharine Byers and sister, Mrs. Dollie Dowdy were locked up at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon on charges of disorderly conduct. The charges were preferred against the women by Mrs. S. S. Swords. The trouble started over the children of the two families and words began to fly at a lively rate when Mrs. Swords accused Mrs. Byers of hitting her son with a rock. The Dowdy woman it is alleged, tried to get a dog to chase Mrs. Swords. All three parties are residents of Stewartville. The two women were given a hearing Friday evening before Mayor Davis and Mrs. Byers was fined $8.50 while Mrs. Dowdy was released until a further investigation is made in her part of the case.

The second floor will be converted into a large hall. It is hoped to have the new building completed before cold weather sets in.

FAMOUS OLD BATTLE FLAG IS SENT TO THE STATE RELIC ROOM

Columbus, O., July 18.—Stained with Northern blood and filled with holes made by Southern bullets, a flag carried by the 6888 Central Postal Directory during the last two years of the civil war, and around which many of the blue and of the gray yielded up their lives, has just been turned over to the custody of the state and placed in the flag and relic room at the state house, the depository of precious trophies of Ohio soldiers.

Since the close of the war and, last month, when he died, this flag had been in the keeping of General Jones, of Waverly, Pike county, who, at the risk of his life, prevented it from getting into the hands of the Confederates after several color bearers, who carried it, had been shot down. This happened in a desperate encounter with the "Johnnies" in the Atlanta campaign in the spring of 1864.

At the battle of July 22, Hood's South, the regiment was supporting the "Grass" battery, and the battery and regiment were surrounded by the Rebels. The battery was captured for the time being, but the regiment, after the fiercest kind of fighting, and with heavy loss, cut its way out. It was in this engagement that the color bearers were shot.

General Jones saw the flag fall and, at the risk of his life, ran to and raised it again. The recovery of the banner raised the spirits of the Ohio soldiers and they rebuffed their efforts, to force their way through the Confederate lines, finally succeeding. When the regiment was discharged at Camp Dennison, General Jones took the flag home with him.

When he died the flag was sent to Major James C. Foster, who served in the regiment, and who was a farmer at Higby, Ross county. He wrote Adjutant General Wood, advising that the flag had come into his possession, and that he wished it placed in the custody of the state, along with the other flags. He was informed that the state would be glad to receive it.

This was the third flag carried by the regiment. It was taken by the regiment in the battle of Mission Ridge, and was carried to the march to relieve Burnside at Knoxville and was carried in all the memorable battles of the Atlanta campaign. She and shell have so torn this famous banner that it is necessary to keep it folded so as to prevent it from falling in pieces.

Portsmouth people will be interested in the history of the flag, which is given in a letter written by A. R. McBride of Rarden, who served in the regiment, sent to Major Foster. The latter sent the letter to Adjutant General Wood. The text of the letter is herewith given:

June 18, 1914.

Major J. C. Foster,
Higby, Ohio.
My Dear General:

A letter of the 16th at hand, about the flag of the 53rd Ohio, I am glad to hear that it was present in the company A by the ladies of the chapter and was the flag that was carried through the battle of Mission Ridge. Some time in the spring of 1864 the regiment received a letter from the government and the flag had been presented to the company A by the ladies of the chapter and was returned to the company and taken home to Ohio by whom, as I do not now remember, but as General Jones was present when the flag was presented, I presume he took charge of it and has been in his care from that time until the present.

The second flag was carried by the 53rd Ohio in the battle of the siege of Corinth and in the campaign, including the battle of Vicksburg and the capture of Jackson, Miss. Having been worn until it was in tatters, it was replaced by the government with a new flag. Our flag was sent to Columbus,

SECURE A LONG LEASE ON LUCASVILLE FAIR GROUNDS

A twenty year lease on the fair grounds near Lucasville was secured by J. H. Rockwell Friday by the executive board of the Scioto County Fair Association. An important meeting of the board was held at the town hall at Lucasville late Friday afternoon when various committees were appointed to look after the arrangements for the fair to be held August 18, 19, 20 and 21.

Arrangements were also made for the erection of an implement shed and several buildings. When visitors to the fair arrive in their automobiles they will be directed to a certain section of the grounds to be set aside to park all machines.

Stringent measures are to be taken this year to prevent drinking on the ground. A number of deputies are to be appointed to thoroughly police the grounds and Messrs. Clyde Brant and A. P. Miller have been appointed as a committee to look after this work. Messrs. P. H. Barsha and William Bennett are on a committee to select mechanics to display farm implements at the fair. The directors are desirous of having many and varied displays this year and will direct their work toward that end. Responsibility of getting the race track in shape were placed with J. H. Rockwell. Satisfactory arrangements were also made to run special trains from Portsmouth while fair is in progress.

Henry Ford Tells President Depression Is Psychological

Henry Ford, automobile manufacturer, who recently increased the wages of the men employed at his Michigan plant, stepped from the White House the other day after a talk with President Wilson on business depression. Although Mr. Ford would not talk to newspaper men, even going so far as to deny his identity to two who knew him in Detroit, it was learned he told the President he believed the present business depression was largely psychological as the chief executive had explained sometime ago to other business men who visited him.

Other important business men have visited the President to talk about prosperity and adversity, among them J. P. Morgan. A delegation from Chicago also called. Mr. Ford, so far as known, is the first of these to agree with the President that the business depression is psychological.

Owl Story Recalls Old School Days

Washington, July 14.—Roosting high on a ledge in a gallery corridor today, a screech owl peacefully snoozed while the Senate was in session. Through an open door the strange visitor was in plain view of Vice President Marshall. The bird showed no interest in the anti-trust legislation or the introduction of bills and discussions, but just kept on snoozing.

The above article from Washington has brought back an incident which happened a good many years ago in Mrs. Mulligan's school in this city, when Alex Woodrow and John Watkins were boys.

This reminded them of a time in Mrs. Mulligan's school, when they discovered a screech owl perched up above their teacher's desk. The pupils began to laugh and the teacher became much embarrassed. Thinking there was something about her that was attracting them but finally found it was the owl, which was taken home by Mr. Watkins. The letter follows:

Friend John: I enclose you a clipping from the Times-Star of this morning. The thought came to me that this might be the same fellow that went to school with us. You took possession of him and may have followed his career and if he is he has reached a higher position than either you or I can hope to attain. Others from Miss Mulligan's school have attained distinction but have any of her scholars gone so far as Mr. Owl, provided it is the same owl, and I leave it to you to determine

AGAIN WINS FREEDOM

London, Eng., July 18.—The hunger strike again triumphed over the British government today when Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst who had been re-arrested on Thursday under the "Cat and Mouse Act" was released from Holloway jail.

The famous militant leader was weak and emaciated, having refused to eat or drink water since she was incarcerated.

Detainees from Scotland Yard were detailed to keep her under observation and it is expected she will be arrested again when her health gets better. The greater part of the three years sentence which was imposed upon Mrs. Pankhurst for conspiracy in April 3, 1913, is still hanging over her head.

An English Plaster House—By John Henry Newson

"Home of Character" No. 101

This is a type of modern English architecture in mass, detail and color. The outside is plastered over hollow tile or brick and tinted cream white. The window sills and porch steps are of brick set on edge with cement mortar. The large board, eaves and window frames are stained a rich nut brown and the roof is covered with slate. The window sash and shutters are painted white. The terrace and porch are floored with cement marked off in squares to imitate tile and the terrace is surrounded by a low English privet hedge. If necessary to lessen the cost, the exterior may be developed in lap siding.

The large living room across the front is exceedingly well lighted and has a fireplace dividing it from the dining room. The stairs lead from the living room to second floor and also in combination from the pantry. The kitchen is amply lighted and well arranged, with the sink placed for best light and the refrigerator set in a separate cold room. The pantry is also well lighted and has a china closet with a lower counter shelf containing flour bin, drawers and cupboard, and a drop work table is placed under the window at one end. It will be noticed that the front door is slightly depressed from the floor level of the house. The second floor contains three good bedrooms with large closets, bathroom, linen closet, a well lighted stair hall and stairway leading to an unfinished attic. Basement under the entire house.

This design should be built as described for about $500. In frame the cost should not exceed $350. Size 28x33 feet.

If you are thinking of building, let The Times Homes of Character Department help you through advice from John Henry Newson. Address your inquiries to him, "Homes of Character" Dept., The Times. Give the number of houses concerning which you make inquiry.

MAYOR FRICKS LATEST IS "NO PIANO PLAYING AFTER TEN AT NIGHT"

Do you know that if you tickle the ivories of the old family piano after 10 bells at night that you are liable to be hauled up in police court?

You did not?

Well, according to the very latest edict issued by Mayor Adam Frick, the law is being violated if you play that piano after ten o'clock at night, and the mayor says it will be enforced:

"Of course if there is a musical entertainment on it is different, but this business of thumping on a piano just to be thumping after 10 p. m., will be considered direct violation of the law and the police will be instructed to enforce it," said Mayor Frick when asked about the matter Friday evening by Chief McCarty.

A complaint had been made about a home in which a piano was being played after ten o'clock and Mayor Frick lost no time in giving his idea about late piano playing when there is no musical entertainment on.

The Flocking Habit.
While man has been defined as a gregarious animal, Americans seem to have the flocking habit more strongly developed than any other people. When there is no public attraction to draw multitudes there are private gatherings. This tendency has done much to destroy the home circle as it was once known—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Taplocke Glue.
An excellent glue that is harmless, colorless and odorless is made of taplocke. Cover the desired quantity with cold water, put it over the fire and stir, adding more water as it boils to make a good paste. It can be used to glue wood, leather or paper. For acrobats or photographers it may be necessary to add a little water.

WRITES POEM ON BONZO

A literary friend of The Times was so impressed with the recent editorial upon "A Great Policeman" that he broke into poetry about it and the result, which really is very clever, is given below:

A MODEL POLICEMAN.

Portsmouth comes to the front and with joy unfolds
Claims a model policeman, Joe Bonzo.
He had old Shuck's "Cincinnati" when he was a child,
And known as "Little Joe Bonzo."
When auto's speeded with a capital "a,"
And sidewalks are crowded with loafers all day,
When autos are speeding at "50," just pray
For traffic policeman, Joe Bonzo.

The seal of Ohio has never been pinned
On a bosom more fearless than Bonzo's.
So speeders up Chili's who go like the wind
Had better slow down when near Bonzo.
For he issues a gait to the fast and the slow,
The postoffice leader he puts on the go,
While cripples are soon introduced to road woe
For impeding the progress of Bonzo.

'Tis a stamp of distinction to walk by the side
Of that blue-coated form of Joe Bonzo.
'Tis an undescribed pleasure the auto to ride
'Nenth the gaze of that wonderful Bonzo.
What a joy to be knocked by his club to the street,
And to be run from town by this cop is a treat,
While a glance from his all-seeing eye can't be beat—
Oh, joy, what a wonderful Bonzo!

If ever on Chili I'm pinched, I believe
I'll enjoy it if done by Joe Bonzo.
For a compliment greater no man can receive
From a greater policeman than Bonzo.
When this "arm" of the law makes the transgressors flee
(Perhaps they've ignored the sidewalk decree),
You may all run and hide if you choose, but for me
I'll walk down to prison with Bonzo.

THEATRICAL

The New Sun

Kennedy's big musical comedy company will open the mid-summer season at the New Sun theatre next Monday. This is one of the most successful tabloid shows of the season and has been playing to big houses all over the Eastern circuit. It comes highly recommended as a great fun-maker.

A chorus of ten good looking girls, good singers and graceful dancers, guarantee the kind of a musical show that one is sure to enjoy. Four of the best laugh-making comedians that musical comedy has to offer furnish a clever line of original comedy at all times. The company will be here for a week and will change the entire bill Thursday. The mid-summer season at the Sun promises the patrons of vaudeville some rare treats, as the management will offer all first class attractions. The theatre is cooled by big fans and every one will find it a delightful place to spend an afternoon or evening.

Two Extra Performances

Because of the many and urgent requests sent in to the management by folks who have not been able to witness the "Coxing Players" admirable performance of "The Wolf," due to the inclement weather, the company has decided to hold this excellent bill over for two more performances. So if you have not seen this wonderful play, this is your chance.

Written by Eugene Walters, "The Wolf" is just about the strongest and most thoroughly fascinating play that can be had and Mr. Regan's company at Millbrook park play in a most creditable manner, every player doing their respective parts wonderfully well. Now that this kind of play has proven so popular Portsmouth theatre-goers may expect the very highest class of plays from now on at the Casino. The company would much rather present this class of attraction, so look out for some big ones.

Beginning next Wednesday a beautiful satirical society comedy drama will hold the boards entitled "When the Tide Turns," a bill entirely different from all others presented this summer. Then for July 20th and week another of Mr. Walters' strong successes, "Paid in Full."

"The Wolf" will continue for Monday and Tuesday, and an inducement for the ladies who have not had an opportunity to see the great play ladies' tickets will be issued which will entitle the holder to get the best seat in the house for 15 cents. Look for those tickets.

Biddy is about as good as the initial back as any of the regulars in that position who have played here this year. Is the popular artist.

Umpire Kuhn Panned

The Massillon Independent says: Umpire Kuhn has always been considered by the Massillon fans as the fairest and swiftest umpire in the league, but during the present season, with all the talk he has been awarded other words often. He has favored the Chalmers crew at all times. Yes, the club's own crowd that he should have called out at third when that boy was safe in block, but the most disgusting act of this present series was when after two were out he called Donovan safe at first when "Bickley" was out. It looks as though Kuhn was trying to save over some of his relatives or to let the Cubs have more of their best hitters out of the way in that inning.
